

Friday, 18th November 2011

Steel giant's head of resourcing highlights need for better talent planning

<http://bit.ly/rMcVZX>

Case Studies: Britain's entrepreneurs of the future

<http://tgr.ph/tOk2WL>

Graduates learn some networking skills

<http://bit.ly/rwduaH>

Jobseekers' perceptions of lower pay in SMEs make it harder for smaller employers to find talent

<http://bit.ly/uRZl6Z>

Talent Forward: what do employees value?

<http://bit.ly/slW2TQ>

Technically speaking there is optimism despite jobless rise

<http://bit.ly/saV4Hc>

Why competition isn't working in higher education

<http://bit.ly/tRGlmh>

Businesses to bid for £250m apprenticeship funding

<http://tgr.ph/tOp1tM>

The evidence is that internships work on the basis of who you know, not what you know

<http://bit.ly/u4lAH5>

Institutions have a duty to provide a professional future for their graduates – should HEI's train students for life or give them skills for work?

<http://linkd.in/un24lr>

Tuition rising for off-campus programs

<http://bit.ly/s20Sot>

Graduate unemployment falls for first time in three years

<http://bit.ly/uPTg7G>